

Intro for Governor Bev Perdue

Bev Perdue's election as North Carolina's first woman governor is the culmination of a lifetime of public service.

For more than two decades — as Lt. Governor and a state legislator — Gov. Perdue has fought to create jobs and sharpen North Carolina's competitive edge in the global economy.

She has acted on her firm belief that world-class public schools are essential to ensuring opportunity and prosperity for all citizens — even though her own parents never had a chance to get high school degrees.

And she has demanded the highest standards of efficiency, transparency and accountability in state government.

Gov. Perdue's bold vision and record of public service give North Carolina's citizens the leadership we need at this critical time in our history.

Now — North Carolina's 73rd governor — Bev Perdue.
